RELEVANT EXPERIENCE

Team Rubicon (TR), USA

Associate Designer

Los Angeles, CA

September 2019 – Present

- Coordinate design for specific programs in response to the COVID-19 pandemic that includes:
 - Foodbank operations with 145 partner organizations, in 117 cities, providing communities with over 1 million meals served, 18 million pounds of food, and 5 million meals packaged.
 - Meal and grocery delivery where TR volunteers have been able to provide over 600 deliveries to individuals and families since the beginning of May.
- Facilitate decision-making among senior leadership, subject matter experts, and public/private donors to define and scope new programs and priorities for a more effective response to natural and manmade hazard events, both domestically and internationally.
- Manage program development by directing stakeholder engagement and communication, delegation and tracking of task assignments.
- Develop written policy, procedure, and learning materials for employees and volunteer staff.
- Oversee the development of the first program pilot, within the TR, designed to create ingress and egress on blocked roadways after a hurricane has passed through a community.
- Build a case management program for individuals and families affected by disasters to connect them with resources for any need within their community.
